Activity Supports Employability / Entrepreneurship / Skill Development

Subject Code: 19UCS307

Subject Name: SEMINAR

The goal of delivering a technical seminar in front of the students and faculty members is to improve the confidence level as well as oral communication of the students. Before going for a talk, they can have many useful references relevant to the topic. This enhances their reading skills in a better way.

They have to do some research, and need to convince the audience of 3 things: the problem is worthwhile (it is a real problem, and a solution would be useful), the problem it is hard (not already solved, and there are no other ways to achieve equally good results), and that they have solved it.

They need to prepare and customize their presentation using any tool. This makes them to know the effective usage of the tool. The students will be self-motivated and confident after delivering a good presentation. In this way, the course helps to focus on the skill development of the students.
