Activity Supports Employability/Entrepreneurship/Skill Development

15UIT602-Mobile Application Development

The following activity is conducted online in the course to facilitate the students to promote Entrepreneurship

Development of Mobile Applications in the laboratory supports the students to develop their own mobile applications for various real time problems. This lab component particularly motivates them for entrepreneurial initiatives and employability options as there is a huge requirement for App development in the market.

HoD -IT

Prepared by

C.Parameswari